HELMS JACKSON VENTURA

THE TEAM FOR THE NEXT CENTURY

JESSE HELMS
for President

Ah, the wisdom of experience. He's not very bright and his opinions are completely loony, but if age is any indicator... Well, he sure is darned experienced!

JESSE JACKSON
for Vice President

Because he's never held public office, Jesse is uniquely qualified for the complex and demanding duties of this job. Not to mention that he rhymes really well.

JESSE VENTURA
for Vice Vice President

Shhh, we haven't told him that position doesn't exist. We just keep him around as a bodyguard and comic relief. Plus, he makes Helms look like he has hair.

The world is getting crazier and crazier. What we need are completely crazy leaders who understand these times and can guide us through them. That's where Team Jesse comes in. They're not the best, or the brightest, but they are bound together by a single, shining, American ideal: No matter who you are, Democrat, Republican, or... whatever, Jesse is a pretty cool name. So don't vote for Team Jesse because you think we'll do a good job. We probably won't. Vote for us because it's the last thing you would think of. Because it's completely crazy. And we need that.
