

W R A T H

---

Sometimes it takes someone who is angry to set things right. You could be polite and tactful, but where would that really get you? They'll just screw things up again. Now is the time to pound your fist on the desk and tell the boss how things should work around here. Yell a bit. You'll feel better.